Husband/Wife Hunt

Dear Sportsman,

Choosing the right outfitter can be very overwhelming, especially for those that have never, or rarely, hunted before. Therefore, we encourage you to ask questions with prospective outfitters. It makes sense to take the time to find the outfitter that can provide you with a whitetail deer hunt of your dreams!

There are so many folks advertising themselves as whitetail deer hunting outfitters. So how do you tell the difference between those outfitters that truly want you to get that buck of a lifetime from those that are just a lot of talk? You ask a lot of questions!

Use these key questions with every prospective outfitter. Take notes and document any areas of concern.

WHAT IS THE PRIMARY SPECIES?

Look for an outfitter that specializes in what you are most interested in.

WHAT IS INCLUDED IN THE PRICE?

Many outfitters have a daily hunt fee that does not include the price of your harvest, food and lodging. Others have package prices which include most everything.

Trophy Hunt

Buddy Hunt

EXPERIENCE

How long have they been hunting? How long have they been guiding successfully? You must also be honest with the outfitter about how much hunting experience you have.

PERCENTAGE OF REPEAT BOOKINGS

Ask what the percentage is on repeat bookings. Most outfitters are booked up a year or two in advance. This says a lot about the quality of an outfitter's operation. Repeat business is one indicator of a reputable outfitter.

SUCCESS RATES

Look for an outfitter that has a proven track record. Ask how many hunts per year he books and how many animals are actually harvested.

REFERENCES

Don't be afraid to ask for references of both people who have and have not harvested game.

DEER MANAGEMENT

Ask about breeding and feeding programs. The best hunting outfitters have aggressive feed plot management practices.

WHAT IF I AM NOT PRESENTED THE OPPORTUNITY TO HARVEST A DEER?

Sometimes many factors and events can lead to a situation where an opportunity is not presented such as rain, fog, extreme weather conditions, etc. Ask the outfitter if a re-hunt will be offered if any of these conditions interfere with your hunt and if so, ask if there are any additional fees.

CANCELLATION POLICY

Unexpected health, family or work problems can come up at a moment's notice. It's always beneficial to know the outfitter's cancellation policy in advance.

Guided whitetail hunts are a once in a lifetime opportunities for some. It makes sense to take the time to find the best outfitters. So do your homework! Ask questions, call references, check online resources.

Choosing the right outfitter can make a huge difference between a great hunt or a horrible memory. Don't settle for anything less than what you want in a hunt and you will have the experience of a lifetime!
